Roger Corman's Black Scorpion #2 - In Issue #2 of this thrilling 4-part series, Detective Darcy Walker dons a makeshift costume and hits the seediest parts. However, any text in a given book set on a graphical background or in handwritten fonts would most likely not be picked up by the OCR software, and is therefore not searchable. Also, a few larger books may be resampled to fit into the system, and may not have this searchable text background. For printed books, we have performed high-resolution scans of an original hardcopy of the book. We essentially digitally re-master the book. Unfortunately, the resulting quality of these books is not as high. Roger William Corman (born April 5, 1926) is an American film director, producer, and actor. He has been called "The Pope of Pop Cinema" and is known as a trailblazer in the world of independent film. Much of Corman's work has an established critical reputation, such as his cycle of low-budget cult films adapted from the tales of Edgar Allan Poe. In 1964, Corman's work was admired by members of the French New Wave and Cahiers du Cinéma, and he became the youngest filmmaker to have a retrospective at the Cinéma de la Ville de Paris. More.
