This is one of the best books I've read for running a high school game. It breaks down multiple genres of comics, interactions teens have with each other. What kind of parents they have, what kind of teachers they have, what kind of school (or not) they go to. What kind of area they live or operate in (Urban, Suburban or Rural) and the implications. The write up of a hero high school is thoughtful and well done. If you have a choice of buying this or the 3rd edition book - there is little difference between the two other than the 3E book, obviously, has 3E stat blocks.
